KELLOGG, Samuel Henry
(1839-1899)

Transfer from Western Theological Seminary
HISTORY

Samuel Henry Kellogg was born in Queiogue, Long Island, New York, September 6, 1839. After his early education, Mr. Kellogg attended the College of New Jersey (Princeton) where he graduated in 1861. From 1863-1864 he taught at the College of New Jersey. In 1864 he completed theology studies at Princeton Theological Seminary and was ordained by Hudson Presbytery. He was a missionary to India from 1864-1876. Kellogg served 3rd Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh as stated supply and then pastor from 1876 to 1877. In 1877 Mr. Kellogg became Professor of Didactic and Polemic Theology at Western Theological Seminary and Lecturer in Comparative Religions, posts that he held until 1886. While at Western Seminary, Kellogg also served as stated supply at the East Liberty church from 1881-1882 and at First Presbyterian Church from 1884-1886. Mr. Kellogg then went to be pastor at St. James Church in Toronto, Canada from 1886-1892. In 1893 Kellogg returned to India as a missionary where he died May 8, 1899.

The College of New Jersey conferred a D.D. in 1877 and Wooster bestowed an LL.D. in 1892. Samuel Kellogg authored several books, several of them circulating in Barbour Library at Pittsburgh Theological Seminary.

SCOPE

The record of Samuel Henry Kellogg holds correspondence over the period 1876 to 1886.

Completed September 9, 2002

MWS.