ARCHIVES

Pittsburgh Theological Seminary

Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

INVENTORY

to

Marjorie H. SUCHOCKI

83:1

Transfer from Pittsburgh Theological Seminary
ARCHIVES

Pittsburgh Theological Seminary

Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

HISTORY

Marjorie H. Suchocki was a graduate of Pomona College with a BA in Philosophy and of Claremont Graduate School with an MA and PhD in Religion. She taught at Wichita State University, Wright State University, Xavier University, University of Cincinnati, Edgecliff College and the University of Dayton. Dr. Suchocki served as Review Editor for Process Studies in 1976 and Associate Editor of Bibliography of Famous Philosophers. She has written various articles and reports for Process Studies, Journal of Religion and other publications. While at Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, Dr. Suchocki published her first book, A Practical Guide to Process Theology. She left Pittsburgh Theological Seminary in 1983 to become Dean of Women at Wesley Seminary in Washington, DC and from there moved to become head of the School for Process Studies at Claremont School of Theology, replacing Dr. John Cobb.

SCOPE

The record of Marjorie H. Suchocki contains brief educational/professional background, a photograph, the Service of Inauguration in 1977 when she became Assistant Professor of Theology at Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, an article in Process Studies, Vol. 7, No. 1, 1977, an item from the Pittsburgh Press, 1977 marking her arrival at Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, notice of an Eight Week Course in 1979, items from PANORAMA, 1982, 1983 and 1984, and notice of Dr. Suchocki’s installation as Dean of Women at Wesley Theological Seminary in Washington, DC.

1 file folder.

Completed March 17, 2003.

MWS.